Officials Talk of Huge Loan to Japan to Save People from Starving

World Will Probably Know Extent of Damage and Needs of People in Next 24 Hours When Wire Service Is Resumed—Various Plans for Aid Are in Making—Tents and Cereals Most Needed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — The throb of human sympathy dulled in the years since the war by self interest, beat fast for the people of distant Japan today. The entire government strove to help. Distance and inadequate communication made its efforts of little avail.

From every side have come messages of sympathy and condolence to the imperial Japanese embassy, where the tragedy of far off Japan can be to some extent conjectured. For not one member of the embassy staff has heard a word from his family since the earthquake. Quietly and with characteristic stoicism, the Japanese officials go about their work hiding their emotions. There is no outward change of expression, no panicky hurry in the embassy's work, simply a methodical application to the countless details suddenly imposed on the embassy staff.

Judging by the wards and districts mentioned in the press dispatches Japanese officials estimate that between seven and eight millions of people are directly affected by the earthquake and fire and that almost the entire population of the Island empire will feel the business shock.

What can America do? The Japanese are grateful for the expressions of sympathy and the offers of help. They themselves can give little advice. They know nothing of the transportation facilities available. The two most urgent necessities are food and shelter. The interior railroads seem to have been paralyzed. Fortunattely most of Japan can be reached from ports. Enough Japanese shipping

Cuba's President Faces Serious Crisis

President Alfredo Zayas, of Cuba, is facing a serious crisis, both inside his island and in his relations with the United States Government, which are admitted to be strained.

SAYS REPARATION ROW REAL DANGER

Czecho-Slovakian Premier Sees Europe's Progress Checked by Impasse

PRAGUE, Sept. 5—"A real danger lurks in postponing the settlement of reparations problems, and if the issue leads England and France to part company the peaceful development of Europe will pay the price," declared Dr. Benes, Czecho-Slovakian Premier, in an interview.

Asked concerning the menace of civil war in Germany, Dr. Benes expressed the belief that no coup, either from the right or the left, would enable exhausted Germany to undertake any action beyond her borders. In such an event, he added, Czecho-Slovakia would be an observer, determined to safeguard her own frontiers.

The describing the Radical Nationalist movements of Germany, Hungary and elsewhere as a universal danger, Dr. Benes emphati-

MRS. BLANCHE LYKES DIES IN CAMBRIDGE

Funeral services for Mrs. Blanche A. Lykes, 31, of 167 south Sixth st, who died at the Cambridge City Hospital Tuesday morning, will be held in the Newcomerstown M. E. church Thursday afternoon at one o'clock. Interment will be made at West Lafayette.

Blanche Marlatt was born in Guernsey on February 13, 1892. The latter part of her life was spent in Coshocton.

She underwent an operation at the Cambridge hospital, which was pronounced successful, but complications set in, and her death followed in a short time.

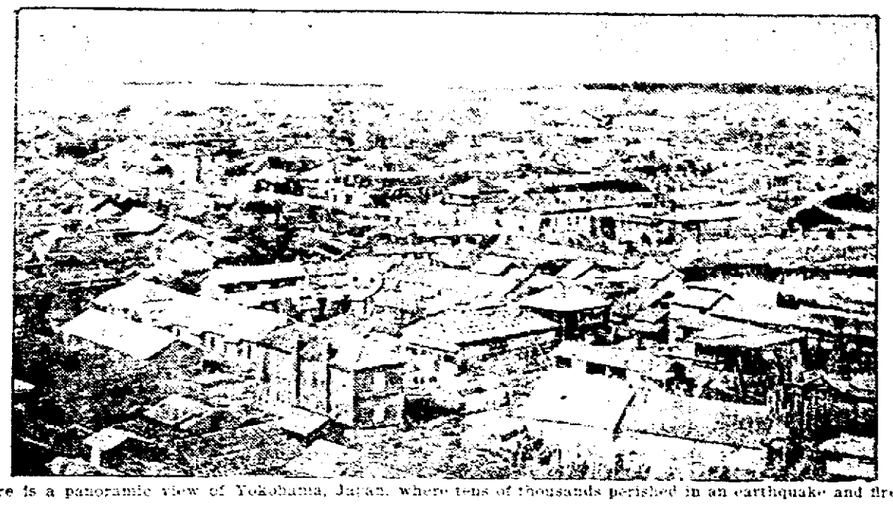

She is survived by her father George Marlatt, of Newcomerstown, three sisters, Margaret of Coshocton, Mrs. Adam Phillips of Newcomerstown and Miss Etta Marlatt of the home, and two brothers, Luther Marlatt, of Newcomerstown and Bert Marlatt of Cleveland.

CLEVELAND WILL GIVE LIBERALLY

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5—Plans to contribute $150,000 for the relief of suffering in Japan will be taken at a meeting of the Community Fund Council today, it was announced by officials.

"Cleveland will do its full share," said Charles E. Adams, general chairman.

GOV. PINCHOT AGAIN PREPARES MEETING OF COAL FACTIONS

Pennsylvania Executive Will Insist Upon A Settlement

OFFER IS SAME

(By GEORGE DURNO)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 5. — Fighting with his back to the wall, Governor Gifford Pinchot today prepared for still another meeting with the anthracite operators and miners, whose differences precipitated a strike in the hard coal fields last Friday.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the governor of Pennsylvania calls one more coal conference together, and incidentially plans to launch his supreme political effort. Having failed to stop the walkout he will endeavor to bring the two factions together and make the stoppage of production of as short duration as possible.

Settlement—so far as Pinchot is concerned—will be reached on the basis laid down by him last week. This basis includes a ten per cent wage increase, establishment of a basic eight hour day, recognition of the principle of collective bargaining and full recognition of the union with a semi-check off.

This plan in the governor's opinion, represents the best possible offer, it is said.

A spokesman close to the state executive has described it as some-

EASY TO BE SMART IF YOU USE ALL YOUR BRAINS, SAYS NOTED ENGLISH BIOLOGIST

BY LUTHER A. HUSTON

LONDON, Sept. 5—No matter how smart you are you can be infinitely smarter if you will learn to use all of your brains. Everyone has more brains than he can use and the cerebral evolution of the future will consist in the discovery of ways and means of using the latent intelligence now undeveloped.

This fascinating vista of the possibilities of mental evolution was pictured by Dr. J. Arthur Thomson, noted British biologist, in an interview. Even the cleverest, according to Dr. Thomson, can be twice as clever simply by making use of the brains they have.

"There are," said Dr. Thomson, "about 1,700,000,000 people living in the world today, but man has more than five times that number of nerve cells in the shallow, convoluted cortex of his fore-brain. This multitude includes sensory nerve cells that receive tidings from the outside world, thru the sense-organs, and from the interior of the body generally. What a volume of news is always pouring in, tho there is a great lessening of the bustle when we sleep.

"Then there are the motor nerve cells, which send out orders to muscles and glands, and do not cease communicating when we are at rest. But between the scout and sentinel cells on one hand and the executive officer cells on the other hand there are the G. H. Q. cells, which link the two together.

"They get many names—associative, communicating, internuncial, adjusters—all meaning the same thing, but the important point is this, that progress in the brain and mind is bound up with increase in these G. H. Q. cells and in the intricacy of the interrelations which they bring about by their interlinking branches. No picture of the complexities of

WILY BOOTLEGGER THWARTS OFFICERS

Humbly Pleads Guilty When Caught and Escapes Lawyers' Fees

AKRON, Sept. 5—Judges, prosecutors, dry agents and vice officers all agree, strange as this may seem, with the declaration that the wisdom and perspicacity of the bootlegger is becoming nothing short of amazing.

Unfailingly and unceasingly they uncover new flaws in the law. Judges frequently lament from the bench, 'When we think we have one hole plugged in the law they find another loophole."

"We can't get the goods on them now so easily as we did a few years ago," say the dry agents, "and when we do get them the quantity of liquor is so small it looks shameful to prosecute."

In a humble whisper, hardly audible in the police court room, the up-to-date bootlegger pleads "guilty." This is the latest proof of wisdom.

"The lawyers are out of it,"

FORMER COSHOCTON COUNTY RESIDENT DIES IN NEBRASKA

Granville Marshall, 58, former resident of Coshocton co, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Buck in Ashland, Nebraska, August 15.

He was born in Cassco, Illinois, November 4, 1865. His mother died when he was three weeks old, and his father brot the family to Coshocton co.

Mr. Marshal lived here until he was 18 years of age, when he went to Nebraska. He remained on a farm there for 26 years.

He married Miss Ella Colman in 1891. Three children were born to the union, two of whom survive. They are Mrs. E. E. Buck, of Ashland, and Mrs. Lester Marshall, of Coshocton Route 6.

In 1921 Mr. Marshall returned to Coshocton co and purchased the W. C. Middleton farm. Because of poor health, he sold his farm here and went back to Nebraska just three weeks before his death.

Besides his widow and two daughters, he is survived by three brothers, A. J. Marshall, G. C. Marshall, of Coshocton Route 6 and Thomas O. Marshall of Wisconsin and two sisters, Mrs. G. C. Miller, Coshocton Route 6, and Mrs J. L. Stewart of the Warsaw vicinity.

CAPTURE RECORD FOR RAT HUNTERS

This season's ratchunting record is being claimed by John Buckmaster, John Hoop, Charles Hoop, and William Hoop.

The four men staged a rat hunt on the Charles Hoop farm south of Roscoe on Labor Day, and they reported that they bagged 80 rats in one hour and a half.

Each man averaged a little better than one rat every five minutes of the time they hunted.

Coshocton Red Cross To Send Help To Japan

The sumof $1,000 to be used in a fund for the relief of Japanese suffering from the effects of the earthquake and fire around Tokio, was appropriated from chapter funds by the Coshocton chapter of the American Red Cross at a meeting of the executive board Tuesday afternoon.

The action was taken in response to the appeal made by President Coolidge for aid for stricken Japan.

The work of collecting and distributing the vast sum of money and supplies, necessary to meet the conditions has been placed upon the American Red Cross, and the Coshocton co chapter is prepared to do its share, officers declared Wednesday.

The $1,000 appropriation is an initial offering, and more will be given later if needed. A check for that amount was sent out Tuesday by T. L. Montgomery, treasurer of the local chapter.

UNIVERSITY MAN AT ROTARY MEET TALKS TO FARMER GUESTS

Predicament of Farmer Is Discussed, Remedies Suggested

More efficient production, thrifty buying and better selling methods are necessary before the farmer can improve his present financial position, H. C. Ramsower extension worker from the Ohio State University in an address delivered before members of the Rotary club and their farmer guests at the Country Club, said.

The Rotary meeting Tuesday evening was in charge of the County Acquanitance Committee of which J. S. Elliott is chairman. Each club member brot a farmer guest. In all, there were 84 persons present.

The address of welcome was made by Ppesident Louis C. Glover. He gave a history of the Rotary Club, for the benefit of the guests, and explained its aims. He also explained that the purpose of the meeting was to promote the interest of better county-city relations.

Similar addresses were made by J. S. Elliott, E. A. Crawford and G. C. Musgrove.

The main address of the evening was given by Mr. Ramsower. He

COMPTON RELATES HIS IMPRESSIONS OF CITIES RAZED

Edward C. Compton gave a timely address on his observations and experiences in Tokio, Japan, at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Country Club house Wednesday noon.

Tokio is the scene of great devastation by the recent earthquake and fire. Compton spent three months there last year.

He said he found the people very friendly and accommodating, especially to foreigners. In spite of that, however, he expressed the opinion that they should not be permitted to settle in this country permanently, because of their lower standards of living and morals, and their tendency to crowd in.

Japan, Compton said, is made up of about 4,000 islands, of which only from five to six hundred are populated. The business sections are built up in modern style but all structures are limited to seven stories. The average business building consists of but two stories, Compton said. The residences are very frail, and are easily shaken to the ground by storms or earthquakes.

E. O. Selby gave a report of the Kiwanis convention at Cedar point which he attended. He expressed a great deal of enthusiasm over the work being done by the organization, as brot out in convention reports. Selby heard addresses by both the international president and the state president of the organization.

Announcement was made at the meeting Wednesday that the club will continue to support a fund to furnish milk for undernourished school children this year, the same as in the past, but the work of distributing the milk will be handled entirely by school officials.

CONSERVATIVE ESTIMATES OF DEAD IN JAPAN QUAKE STAND AT 300,000 TODAY

First Relief Supplies Reach the Hundreds of Thousands of Destitute Survivors—Not a Building Is Left Standing in Yokohama—Area of Worst Desolation Is 100 Miles Square—Two Hundred and Sixteen Separate Shocks Felt

As communication was partially restored today, with Japanese areas devastated by earthquake, fire, storm and tidal waves the estimates of dead became more conservative. The death list may not exceed 300,000.

The Japanese consul at Shanghai estimated the dead in Tokyo at 130,000.

The first supplies of relief food have reached the ravaged district around Tokyo. Food and medicines are badly needed by the hundreds of thousands of homeless fugitives. Within a few days a steady stream of food, clothing, shelter tents, blankets and medicines will be pouring into Japan.

A million and a half people in the stricken Tokyo area are facing starvation.

Yokohama was completely destroyed, without a building being left standing, according to a private telegram.

The work of reconstruction will start at once. It is estimated Japan will buy 500 million dollars worth of supplies in the United States.

By LLOYD H. LEHRBAS.

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 5.—With the re-establishment of partial communication in Japan, the unprecedented disaster which has stunned the world and rendered millions of persons in the island empire homeless, with a loss of life variously estimated at from 300,000 to 500,000 the catastrophe is being unfolded to an anxious world in despatches today which are trickling thru direct from the stricken country for the first time

MAYOR'S OFFICE IS PRISON CELL

BEAUFORT, S. C., Sept 5.—A prison cell may not make such a delightfully pleasant office, and it may not be the customary place from which a mayor directs his official business, but a cell in the Atlanta federal penitentiary will serve as the executive headquarters of this little city for the ensuing year.

A year ago R. Y. Bray, Jr., a citizen of this town, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to serve a year in prison for striking an inspector of internal revenue. Bray offered for defense the statement that the federal officer had intimated that he was a liar.

Altho the court convicted him of the charge his townspeople, just to show what they thot of the affair, elected him mayor in the last election. He has surrendered himself to the United States Marshal and will perform his duties, directing the policies and activities of his home town from the prison cell.

BLUE ROW MAN IS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Hamilton Mobley, of Blue Row was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and assessed a fine of $500 and costs on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor as the result of a raid made upon his residence Tuesday afternoon.

The raid was made by Sheriff Ernest Darr, Deputy James Stuart, Police Chief Ray Duling and Patrolman George Fretague. The raiding officers reported that they found two barrels of wheat and rye mash, a half gallon of distilled liquor and 200 pounds of confectioner's sugar.

When arraigned on the two charges, Mobley pleaded guilty to the charge of possessing and not guilty to the charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

He will probably be taken to the Starkeo workhouse to work out his fine, Mayor W. S. Tish said Wednesday.

Fred Tourell was arrested at the same time. Police believe that he was associated with Mobley in the manufacture of distilled liquor. He had not been arraigned Wednesday forenoon.

JR. O. U. A. M. HOLDS STATE CONVENTION

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5. Election of officers is the feature of today's session of convention of 500 delegates of Junior Order of United American Mechanics, Ohio State Council at Hotel Southern here.

The meeting celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the organization.

The boys band and girls' glee club from the orphans' home maintained by the order at Tiffin, are attracting attention.

The closing session of convention will be held tonight.

REPUBLICANS OF W. L. NAME TICKET

At a Republican caucus in West Lafayette last night, the following ticket was named for the November election.

For mayor, Allen Henderson, marshal, E. L. Thompson; councilmen, Frank Ricketts, Bert Leighninger and James Ross; building board, Jerrius Leighninger and Fred Donneshauser, trustee, Elmer Ross and J. Booser.

3,000 AMERICANS BELIEVED TO BE IN DISASTER ZONE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 5—While the government has no exact figures on the number of Americans in the devastated areas of Japan, inquiries have been made concerning the safety of approximately 3,000 Americans believed or feared to have been in the Orient at the time of the catastrophe, it was learned today.

State department officials pointed out, however, that it is probable that hundreds of those for whom inquiries have been made, will eventually be found not to have been in the disaster zone.

GIRLS UNDER AGE OF 21 ARE MINORS, ATTRY. GEN. RULES

COLUMBUS Sept 5.—Girls who passed their eighteenth birthday prior to June 14, last, if they are not yet 21 years old are still minors, and subject to parental control according to an opinion given by Attorney General Crabbe.

The girls may have "their own time" for two years more, but are now back in the class of "minors" according to the opinion.

The ruling was handed down on an interpretation of a law passed by the last state legislature.

THE MISSES LYTTON BELIEVED SAFELY OUT OF EARTHQUAKE AREA

Altho no communications have been received from the Misses Mabel and Twila Lytton, who have been in the devastated section of Japan, it is that they are safe, according to their parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. B Lytton, of West Bedford, who stated Wednesday that they were supposed to have sailed from Yokohama, on August 25.

Miss Twila has been located in Union College, at Tokyo, as supervisor since March and Miss Mabel has been touring Japan, Korea and China. The Misses Lytton are returning to the states via Honolulu and San Francisco, Calif.

GREEK-ITALIAN WAR CLOUDS THOT PAST; OVERHANGS SERBIA

Danger of war between Greece and Italy is apparently over, according to the following radiogram received in New York today by Bradford Merrill, general manager of the Hearst newspapers:

(By HAMILTON FISH, Jr.)

Member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives.

By Wireless from the Steamship Pierre Loti in the Mediterranean

ON SHIPBOARD Sept 5—When I left Athens last night the war cloud seemed to have blown over in Greece, but is overhanging Bulgaria.

The Greek foreign minister assured me that Greece would not declare war under any circumstances unless the Greek mainland were invaded.

Greece is quiet. No warlike activities is permitted. No military operations have been taken, except the withdrawal of the fleet behind the system of mines near the Salamina forts.

But the Greek foreign office reports great excitement in Jugo-Slavia where the situation is evidently serious.

It develops that the Italian officials who were delimiting the Greek-Albanian frontier were stabbed in their beds and not killed by rifle fire.

WILL IS FILED

The will of Emerson Reed, deceased, which has been filed in probate court, leaves all his property to his widow, Mary E. Reed, for the duration of her life.

At her death, the will provides that the property remaining shall be divided equally among the three children, Ollie Walker, Bessie A. Reed and Mabel Endsley.

The will was made March 29, 1912.

STORES TO REMAIN OPEN ALL THURSDAY BEGINNING SEPT. 6TH

Retail stores operated by members of the Coshocton Business Men's Association will be open tomorrow for Thursday afternoon trade for the first time in three months. The summer half-holiday season ended with the month of August.

From now on the stores will remain open on Thursday afternoon the same as other afternoons. A few grocery stores and other business places not represented in the Coshocton Business Men's Association will continue to close on Thursday afternoons thru September.

Ambrose Hanley, secretary of the business men's organization, announced Wednesday that there would be a meeting of merchants and manufacturers in the Home Building & Loan Co. office Wednesday evening for the purpose of drawing exhibition spaces for the coming county fair.

The merchants and manufacturers have banded together, and obtained the use of one whole hall at the fairgrounds for their displays. Spaces for the exhibition of each individual establishment's display will be designated at the meeting Wednesday evening.

NEW YORK RACKET STORE PURCHASED BY R. O. WILLIAMS

Announcement of the sale of The New York Racket Store to R. O. Williams, former manager of the Fountain Dry Goods Co. store, by Max Cielland was made Wednesday.

Mr. Williams will take possession of the store Thursday morning. He plans, for the present, to handle the same line of goods always handled by the store. After the first of the year, he intimated that he might change the name of the establishment, and at the same time make slight changes in the merchandise handled by it.

Mr. Williams came to Coshocton in February 1920, when the Fountain Dry Goods Co. was reorganized following a period of operation under the name of the Monroe-Steele Co. He made a successful manager, and he remained with the company until it was sold to the J. C. Penney Co., and the dry goods line dropped.

His decision to purchase The New York Racket Store was made suddenly. His many friends in Coshocton were Wednesday expressing pleasure over the prospects of his remaining in Coshocton.

Mr. Cielland Wednesday had not decided what he will do in the future, he declared. He has operated the store for the past seven years. He purchased it shortly after it had been moved from the room at present occupied by the Hanlon Furniture Co., to its present location west of the Pennsy tracks on the south side of Main st.

The store was opened 25 years ago by J. B. Renfrew, who operated it until it was sold to Mr. Cielland.

EASTERN STAR PICNIC AT PARK

The members of the Coshocton Chapter Order of Eastern Star and their families will picnic at Coshocton Lake Park Thursday afternoon and evening. The Warsaw, West Lafayette, and Newcomerstown chapters will attend.

All are to bring basket lunch, and those who have no means of transportation are requested to meet at the Masonic club rooms anytime between 1:00 and 5:30 and transportation will be provided.

Program in the afternoon, dancing in evening.

Financial Letter

WALL STREET, N. Y., Sept. 4 —While the market has been to some extent overshadowed by foreign conditions and the strike situation which still remain conspicuous elements in the outlook, a more comfortable view of both factors has been taken during the past few days. Continuance of negotiations between France and England shows that the "break" often referred to has not arrived, and the work that has been done domestically in regard to the anthracite strike although it has not resulted in bringing about a settlement, is believed to prevent the controversy from going to great lengths. The market at all events has continued quite persistently to disregard the strike as a price making factor. Good business prospects for the autumn have combined with the currently well liquidated condition to put the market upon a distinctly better basis.

Production Well Sustained.

The general status of production is undoubtedly well sustained. According to the Federal Reserve Board it was off only 1 per cent during July, as compared with the preceding month, while figures just compiled by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York show that this situation has been practically maintained in industry at [illegible]. The steel industry is running [illegible] 80 to 90 per cent of capacity. While pig iron production [illegible] anything slightly lower, purchases and shipments have lately [illegible] better than expected. Some representative business indexes showing the relative condition of the productive outlook in a number of essential lines are the following (Estimated normal—100%):

	July, 1922	April, 1923	July, 1923
Pig iron	81	114	[illegible]
Steel ingots	91	115	[illegible]
Bituminous coal	a41	117	[illegible]
Anthracite coal	a1	102	[illegible]
Cop'r, U. S. mine	77	89	b102
Tin deliveries	75	132	[illegible]
Cot'n consu'tion	84	101	83
Wheat flour	121	110	123
Sugar meltings	131	122	70
Cement	126	134	135
Zinc c	60	82	77
Auto, passenger	131	142	b161

c Seasonal variation not allowed for. a Strike period. b Preliminary.

Such current figures as are available show that conditions today are even more favorable.

Building Active.

Great interest has been expressed in building conditions not only from the standpoint of their effect on the stock market but also as an indicator of general trade prospects. There has been, as shown by current figures, not over 1% of [illegible] and [illegible] are to the effect that so [illegible] at 20% above [illegible]

Other Products in Demand

[illegible] business [illegible] fed [illegible] running [illegible] for passenger cars [illegible] has been afforded [illegible] of moderate price [illegible] to continue [illegible] for the season of the year near [illegible] the situation shows no more than seasonal reactions and retail stocks are generally reported as small, those in the cities being lower than any month since January last. With the opening of the autumn business abundant [illegible] is being afforded that renewed activity in textiles, leather, and in fact almost all lines directly catering to the ultimate consumer may be expected, while basic industries are (as already explained) feeling the force of strong general demand in building, automobile and railroad construction industries.

Traffic Returns Reassuring.

The traffic returns of the railroads are more than reassuring, past records in the movement of cars being again exceeded during the last week or two with loadings running in the neighborhood of [illegible] for the week. Earnings returns are equally encouraging in most cases, the future for such roads as New York Central being particularly impressive when compared with the conditions of a year ago. How far an anthracite strike might damage the roads would depend on its length but on the other hand they are likely to get longer hauls on bituminous. Crop forecasts continue favorable, while the better prices prevailing in nearly every branch of the staple commodity market seem to insure a fairly steady movement of freight [illegible] resulting traffic for the roads [illegible] [illegible] the leading [illegible] [illegible] formulated for the segr[illegible]

Conservative Policies at Washington

[illegible] tation outlook coincides with further announcement of conservative policies at Washington. Administrative authorities allowing it to be unofficially known that they wish to avoid any serious impositions upon plans already announced or in effect. It has also been stated that no important alterations of personnel were to be expected, and the corresponding announcement with regard to policies now seems to give assurance that a continuous course of action not affected by the change of the headship of the Government is to be looked for. President Coolidge's attitude with regard to the coal strike as well as his announcement that nothing in the way of a special bonus or subsidy to farmers can be considered at this time have been favorably received and the general attitude among market authorities indicates belief in the essential sanity and conservatism of the plans which are being matured at the White House.

Market Review and Outlook.

There has been a very satisfactory condition of underlying strength in the market through the past week. During the last few days of the vacation season no very great increase in activity was to be expected, yet the volume of business has been substantial. The public has remained relatively apathetic, yet, considering the various factors which have operated to restrict trading, the general list has continued to give a good account of itself. The turn for the better has no doubt arrived in the business situation, and the market is in process of discounting it. To be sure, some stocks have enjoyed a substantial rally from their June lows, nevertheless, it is becoming daily more apparent that the floating supply of most stocks is not large and it is easier to sell them than to buy.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S FRIENDS MADE GLAD

One of them had this to say yesterday: "We never thought that poor Ellen would ever recover, she had suffered so long from stomach and liver trouble and had lost more than 40 pounds in weight. She took a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy upon the advice of her aunt and has steadily improved from the first dose. We are all confident of her complete recovery." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. TODAY'S BRIGHT SPOT

"It's outrageous, it's awful and I want [illegible] arrested right away." The voice of an elderly [illegible] over the telephone to police headquarters at Steubenville the other evening. The man was complaining of a petting party in an automobile parked near his house. "Well, jump on 'em like a dog on a bone," was Night Sergeant [illegible] Earl Edgerly's reply. The young sheik now knows [illegible] Lovers Lane and not a street in the business section [illegible] the place for that stuff.

CANTON—A man giving his name as Robert Lee, Canton, arrested on a charge of intoxication made two attempts to hang himself in the city prison. On the first attempt he used his shirt and on the second his belt, each being foiled by the turnkeys who cut him down.

TORONTO—Seventeen men and four women, together with 400 gallons of mash comprised the results of a raid by Sheriff Mercer, of Hancock county, W. Va., made on Brown's Island, in the Ohio river near here. All were reported as [illegible] from Steubenville. Fines were assessed against all of those arrested and three were sent to jail in default of $200 and costs.

CINCINNATI—Real whiskey and pure grain alcohol valued at $25,000, seized by police in a raid, was destroyed by a crew of patrolmen. The liquor was hauled to a dump in police autos. There the cans and jugs were broken and the liquor allowed to soak into the dump. The stuff had been stored in a warehouse marked as "soft soap."

CANTON—One kiss followed another right in probate court here the other day, when two persons came in to see about getting married. Thelma Kiss, of Massillon, came in first. She was followed by her mother Mrs. Esther Kiss. Mrs. Kiss was brought along to give her consent, as Thelma is only 18 years old. After the license was issued, Mrs. Kiss announced that she "wanted one, too," so the papers were issued for a double wedding. The daughter will marry Joffer Ervin, an electrician, and her mother, who is a widow, 38 years old, will marry Andy Boda, a blacksmith. All the applicants live in Massillon.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — A man's home is not his castle—if it is known that intoxicants have been sold there, according to a ruling of Mayor H. M. Davies here. Ignatz Wasecosky, Neffs, contended that officers had no right to search his place without a warrant. The court fined him $500 after ruling that a home ceases to be a private house after booze has been sold. He appealed the case.

BRIDGEPORT—Henry F. Brescock, veteran of the A. E. F., was married while serving in France in 1918, he revealed here in announcing that his wife sailed from France Sept. 1 enroute to this city. Brescock, nephew of ex-mayor George Br[illegible], was a member of the 15th cavalry. He has not seen his wife since his outfit was returned to the states.

NELSONVILLE—After Adam L. Von Sch[illegible], traveling picture agent, was charged with insulting several women in the little mining camp at Hanley Run, a mob of miners threatened to do him violence. He was saved by Sheriff McKinley, but not until after he had been roughly handled.

MINERS BELIEVE OPERATORS WILL GRANT DEMANDS

Say Struggle Will Be Ended in 10 Days; Strike Peaceful

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Sept. 5.—Anthracite strikers are firm in the belief that the strike inaugurated last Saturday will be of short duration. They believe they can win more in a short struggle than they can in a long one.

The majority of the 150,000 strikers believe that within 10 days the mines will be reopened. This belief is nothing more than a hope.

Hard coal operators do not hold such an optimistic view. They contend that the miners must make decided changes in their plans if peace is to come. The demand for the check-off will have to be abandoned, the operators say, and the demand for a big increase cannot be granted. With the miners declaring they will not accept a reduction in any form, operators claim there is nothing on which to base hope for an early resumption. Early official reports today are that the miners will accept a 10 per cent increase for day workers. A modified form of recognition of the union is to be offered by the miners, according to claims of the strikers, but they do not know what these will represent.

From all parts of the field today came reports that strikers are peacefully fighting their battle. No disorder has occurred. Many miners are out hunting jobs on the county roads and some have left for the soft coal region. Others are busy improving their homes.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB WARNS SPEEDERS

Cautions That the Lives of Citizens Are Worth More Than Drivers' Time

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 5.—War has been declared here against speeders by the Birmingham Auto Club.

The first time the driver of a speeding automobile is seen by a member of the Auto Club the following notice is served on the offender:

"You were seen speeding on a certain date and at a certain time by a member of the Birmingham Automobile Club.

"It is not the intention of this warning to compel you to pay a fine to the city, nor is it our object for you to serve a jail sentence. If this warning is heeded we may not only have saved your life but we may have protected the rights of our citizens. Speeding kills. Drive right. Walk right.

"If by any means the member of our club has made a mistake, we are more than glad to apologize. We do not care to make enemies, but boosters. Is not your life and our citizens' lives more valuable than your time? We shall expect you to respect the laws of our city."

Second offenders are prosecuted and every effort is to be made to lodge habitual offenders in jail.

PICKING FRUIT

Experiment Station Horticulturist Suggests Preparing Equipment to Avoid Injury to Trees or Fruit

As fruit harvest approaches the thoughtful orchardist makes an inventory of ladders, baskets, and other picking equipment so that there may be no avoidable delay when the rush season opens and that the trees may not be injured or the fruit damaged in the operation.

In picking peach trees and young apple trees, orchardists of the Ohio Experiment Station prefer strong stepladders to leaning ladders against the small trees, and for large trees they say it is best to stand the ladder as nearly upright as possible so the weight will be on the ground instead of against the branches.

The swing handle or other type basket is lined with canvas to avoid bruising the fruit. Suitable hooks are fastened to the handle of the basket so that it may be hung on a ladder rung or limb of the tree, leaving both hands free for picking.

The picking bag with an open bottom that hooks on the side of the bag may be used for picking the firmer sorts of apples.

The grading table is lined with canvas as a further precaution in protecting the fruit from bruises and breaks.

RED CROSS WILL RAISE $5,000,000 FOR JAP RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A fund of $5,000,000 is to be raised in this country by the American Red Cross for relief work in Japan, it was announced at the white house today following a conference between President Coolidge, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Wadsworth. All plans for the nationwide campaign for funds were approved by the president.

The drive for Red Cross funds is under way with the stimulu of a presidential appeal for support—issued only after it became certain that loss of life and devastation will reach alarming proportions.

"Realizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come, I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people, whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive, to contribute in aiding and giving relief to the people of Japan," said the proclamation from President Coolidge.

Little doubt exists here that there has been a heavy loss of life in Japan.

The normal American population of Tokyo, Yokohama and other nearby Japanese cities, is roughly estimated at about 5,000, and this number undoubtedly was greatly augmented at the time of disaster by the hundreds of tourists who flocked to the orient this summer.

State department records show that travel had been unusually heavy this year.

Eel-Worm Disease May Attack Alfalfa

An eel-worm disease or nematode, which has been found upon alfalfa in western states and is known to infest the clovers and a great many other plants, is becoming widely distributed and may enter Ohio, altho it has not yet been reported in the State.

The disease causes a thin stand of dwarfed plants, some of them being distorted and yellow and many dying within a year or two.

The diseased portion of the plant becomes brown and brittle, so that shoots are easily broken off. Wilting of some of the stems is also an early sign of the disease, and new shoots arising from diseased crowns may be swollen, pale yellow or cream color and of a spongy texture. Badly affected parts rot and die.

Should the disease appear in Ohio, it is requested that specimen plants and account of its occurrence, be sent to the Ohio Experiment Station Botanists, Wooster, in order that steps may be taken to eradicate the disease.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago, the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

GIRLS WHO HAVE PIMPLES OR 'BLOTCHY' FACE ERUPTIONS

Should Make This Simple Test That Never Fails

First look into your mirror and carefully study the condition of your face. Count the pimples or "Blotches" and note their size and exact location. Then go to any good druggist and obtain a trial (25c) size of Noxzema the new snow white greaseless cream that never stains and use it each night according to directions for just one week. Then go back to your mirror and see the results. This is a simple, inexpensive test that never fails and your own mirror cannot lie!

Noxzema is entirely different from the usual "greasy" salve that stains and smells like tar for it is a pure, white, fragrant cream that rubs right in without leaving grease or stain.

If you want to be free from Pimples, Facial Eruptions or some fiery skin irritation start this simple test tonight. You'll be surprised to see how beautiful your skin can really be.

TAGGING THE BASES

Boy, bring a niche for Mr. Jones, of the New York Yankees. He shut out the Athletics without a hit, the Yanks winning 2 to 0. It was the first hitless game in the major leagues this year. Only three men reached first base on a pass, on an error by Scott and a force play.

In a duel of left hands Rixey bested Cooper and the Reds beat the Pirates 2 to 1.

Danforth wilted in the late innings, the Indians beating the Browns, 6 to 2.

The Cubs gained a rolling fall over the Cardinals, 3 to 2.

Inspired by Kelly's homer with two on in the eighth, the Giants defeated the Braves 3 to 0.

Outside of the fact that he drove in two runs with successive hits and stole home, Goslin had little to do with the Senators' 3 to 1 defeat of the Red Sox.

The Tigers again made merry at the expense of the White Sox pitchers and won 5 to 2.

Last Night's Bouts

Long Island City—Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, won decision over Pal Moran, New Orleans, 10 rounds.

Abe Goldstein, New York got decision over Frankie Conway, New York, 10 rounds.

Philadelphia—Joe Grims, of Allentown, defeated Jack McVey, of Philadelphia, eight rounds.

Steubenville—Eddie Barr, Pittsburgh, outpointed K. O. Circus, Barberton. Dick Coolman, Steubenville, defeated Eddie Wilmore, Fairhaven, Pa. Young Crawes, Pittsburgh, outpointed Pete Roberts, Wheeling. Bruno Myers, Canton, boxed draw with Jack Monroe, Pittsburgh.

LUIS' MENTAL STATE MAY BE GREAT FACTOR

Lack of Confidence May Be Fatal to Argentinian

(By DAVIS J. WALSH)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. — Will Firpo be a bristling, fur-bearing throwback to some ancestral savage or just an overgrown man with a mean look and a lot of hair? Will he meet the crisis of his life with a rush as fighting men do or maintain the rather negative attitude of a man who hopes for the best and expects the worst?

The Latin's state of mind will have an abiding effect on the outcome of his meeting with Dempsey on the night of September 14. His great chance lies in the power of his right hand, but fear, if allowed a free rein, may rob it of its potency.

We do not refer, necessarily, to fear of bodily injury. Fear of failure with the big moment at hand is equally debilitating. Dempsey himself had no reason to nourish a physical fear of Bill Brennan, yet upon the occasion of their last meeting several years ago the champion was obviously a prey to misgivings. He was so nervous, in fact, that his legs trembled as he posed with Brennan for a picture before the bell.

For ten rounds thereafter Brennan marched steadily into a barrage of punches from a man supposed to be one of the greatest hitters in the history of the game. The answer? Some characterized the bout as a buck and wing. We believe, however, that it is altogether possible acute nervousness drained much of the power from Dempsey's arms and made him a comparatively light hitter for that particular evening.

The old "con-fee-dience," as a former ballplayer used to call it, is the best competitive asset a man can own. With it he will rush right up to the mouth of a cannon, serene in the belief that, somehow, he is immune. Without it he may be hesitant at the doorway of unguarded riches.

Firpo had it when he met Jack McAuliffe, 2d. Some obliging soul had tipped him to the fact that the young man would go down with or without sufficient provocation and forthwith the senor had everything—speed, judgment and punching accuracy.

Between the fourth and the eleventh rounds of the Brennon affair Firpo had the beaten, discouraged look in his eye of the whipped animal. Some vouch for the statement that he sat in his corner, between rounds, and indicated a sincere willingness to retire by saying "fini, fini."

He was obviously nervous in facing Willard and not only did he lack speed and hitting ability for several rounds, but also any evident desire to rush right over the man mountain and end everything quickly.

This being the case, the testimony may be completed with the statement that, if Firpo fails to take his punch into the ring against Dempsey all he will take out is a headache.

OFFICIALS TALK

is available to transport food from one port to the other but the supplies which can be rushed from China and the Philippines will be of great help. The American government can help most, it is pointed out, by rushing tents and cereals.

At least it will take several days for food supplies to reach Japan. Officials think that the destruction of the business area in Tokio and Yokohama with the loss of the warehouses means a serious food crisis that can hardly be remedied before starvation must take its toll. The greatest fear is held that the sanitary system of Tokio having broken down will not soon be restored and that epidemics are inevitable.

The Japanese army is expected to adopt forceful measures to clean out the city of as many survivors as possible so the supply of food and sanitation can be regulated until this will take several days. Meanwhile the anxiety over what is transpiring today is intense.

Japan has just been in the throes of an economic depression which has for three years kept Japanese industry in a state of uncertainty. The bottom of the depression had been reached. The depression was similar to that experienced in the United States except that the Japanese recovery has been much slower.

When to add to the wants of the Japanese ... attached to and the population is cared for, there will be an even greater crisis. Banks in Japan are bound to be ruined unless the government helps. The possibility of a huge relief loan to be floated by the Japanese government in America is talked of but until some definite word is received from Tokio government as to the extent of the damage nothing definite along that line can even be estimated. Something governmental will have to be done in Japan to help private business. As for a loan the credit of the Japanese government abroad is excellent and she would have no difficulty in raising virtually any sum as her national wealth is extensive.

The officials of the American government do not care to comment on it, they are aware that a blow at Japanese-American trade has been struck by the hand of fate and that the purchasing power of the Japanese people will be affected by the disaster.

Word that all members of the American embassy staff were safe was communicated by the department of state to the Japanese embassy where relief was expressed at their good fortune. The Japanese embassy expects the government wireless stations not far from Tokio to be working before another twenty-four hours have elapsed and that a courier or telegraph system will be established by the government so that the entire world may be apprised of Japan's needs and the extent of her loss.

It takes an earthquake or a disaster somehow to demonstrate how close together the peoples of the world really are. There isn't a thot here today except of suffering people, not a thot of color or race distinction or erstwhile rivalries—all are united in extending to Japan the hand of help. On demonstrations such as these are built after all the most enduring friendships.

DAILY NEWS LETTER

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers At Home and Abroad

BY GEORGE T. HOOK

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—Hair-raising in its purpose and breath-taking in its modernity comes Daytime Wives, Inc., to solve one of the problems of the business man and perhaps make him less tired—mayhap to the box office sorrow of stage attractions that "Delight the eye and please the ear," and which were born when the tired business man became a national figure that had to be resuscitated if the country were to be saved from industrial chaos.

If you've never heard of Daytime Wives, Inc., and you don't know its reason for being, then you miss out on the remarkable fact that this organization is responsible for the world being gifted with another "triple entente," one in which two of the unsignatory "powers" go to make the life of the third—in this case the business man—complete at home and office. The other two "powers" are the working girls, or Daytime Wives, and, as they would have it, the real wives of their employers.

The purpose of Daytime Wives, Inc., is beautifully explained by Miss Paula Gould acting president of this young organization.

"Our principal reason for being," Miss Gould said, "is to help our employers win their fight for success by bringing a little bit of home into their offices; a little bit of home such as darning socks, sewing on loose buttons and attending to their shopping. Literally, being their wives in daytime. But in addition to this the organization is striving to uplift conditions among working women and improve morals. The members are honor-bound to give their male employers that degree of honest service in the performance of certain functions which they never get from their wives at home."

Which is rather hard on the wives of business men, isn't it? and sort of answers what has long been a cryptic question, i. e., "What makes the tired business man tired?" The answer of the Daytime Wives is: Orthodox wives.

"We feel," Miss Gould continued, "that the modern young woman of the business world is actually doing more today to shape the destiny of her boss than his wife, who is cushioned in luxury and ease at home.

"The business woman, keen-minded, energetic, loyal and efficient, stands alongside her boss through the long hours of the day, and often in a stuffy office, and fights tooth and nail with him for victory in the struggle for success. How long would the petted wife last in this gruelling battle with the world?"

A Norwegian-American liner recently brot to this port several hundred young and pretty female Swedes and Norwegians.

Announcement of the influx perked up employment agencies which since the war have battled valiantly against the dearth of servant girls. But the feeling of elation didn't last long.

From their temporary residence on Ellis Island the girls sent out word that they weren't going to soil their pretty hands working as household "help." No, indeed, they said. They preferred to find work in beauty parlors, as manicures or hairdressers.

SAYS COLLEGES LEAD PROGRESS OF FARMER

Agricultural Movement Unique in Degree of Educational Guidance, Professor Claims

A professor in the college of agriculture who has been checking thru "Rus", America's rural Who's Who, uncovers facts which he says illustrate the main difference between the agricultural movement of the present century and all previous movements of a class or in efforts to improve its economic and social status. "An educated leadership, and a leadership educated especially for the task at hand" — this, says C. E. Lively, the investigator, summarizes the main difference.

There are 4,342 names in "Rus", L. H. Bailey's directory of rural leadership in the United States, Prof. Lively reports. These are names of agriculturists, farmers, and farmwives who have achieved a distinction more than local in the rural field.

Of these 4,342 names, 4,179 are of persons with some college training and 2,747 hold college degrees. Of those with degrees nearly half hold advanced degrees won by graduate research after the completion of the regular four-year college course.

Prof. Lively teaches sociology at the Ohio State University. This analysis of rural leadership he has undertaken to get at the underlying factors. Education is the leading factor in local as well as in national rural leadership, he believes, and points to results of a survey taken in Ohio several years ago which showed that 928 farmers with less than high school education averaged incomes of $562, whereas the 27 agricultural college graduates in the same field of survey averaged incomes of $1422.

EASY TO

a telephone 'central' or anything like that comes near suggesting the possibilities of inter-relationship among the 9,200,000,000 of nerve cells in our cerebral vortex."

It is the development of these G. H. Q. cells, Dr. Thomson contended, that results in "some new mental pattern—some history-making invention, discovery or originality of some sort. It must be kept in mind," he continued, "that these cells are not like chessmen on a board, but are living units—intensely living—and present in millions."

Altho some progress has been made in mapping the brain, Dr. Thomson asserted, and in discovering what happens in particular areas, such as the discovery by Broca of the position of the speech centre, this work is as yet barely begun.

"One of the remarkable facts," said Dr. Thomson, "is that there are big areas in the brain for which no use is known. We cannot suppose that a large quantity of complex expensive tissue would be allowed to accumulate as a useless drag."

It is a fatal error, according to the British biologist, to conclude that "man has reached the end of his evolutionary tether," either physically or mentally. Those who point back to Aristotle or Archimedes as examples in an argument that there is a paucity today of great minds as compared to those of a few centuries ago are forgetting the "very short time on the evolutionist's clock" that it has been since those intellectual giants lived.

"There may be no living mathematician as great as Newton," Dr. Thomson declared, "but there is probably in the world today a larger proportion of considerable mathematical talent than in Newton's day. In short, the average may be slowly rising toward the height which the great mutations or geniuses reached by a sudden bound. Even if the height is never reached again, or never reached by many, there is evidently an open road of possibilities. It is silly to deny the fact or the possibility of progress."

The mind, according to Dr. Thomson, may be an antiquity, but it is certain that evolution has not stopped.

"It is not our business to sketch the courses of mental culture by which evolution proceeds," he said, "for that raises the whole problem of education, we are simply nailing to our mast the colors of Hope—that the ordinary man has not come within anything like making the most of his mind."

ASSERTS FARMER IS NOT 'INDEPENDENT'

And Rural Co-operative Success Means Gain to Cities, Director Ramsower Adds

COSHOCTON, Sept. 5. — The "independent farmer" is no longer so. Only under conditions of utter savagery, where every man fends alone for himself and his family can city and country be considered as independent of each other, or as rivals in the struggle for existence.

From this, the theme of an address delivered today before the Rotary Club and farmer guests here, H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension in Ohio, argued that reform of the marketing system for farm products, now being undertaken by farmer co-operatives, will in a variety of ways be of benefit to city people.

He described the present marketing system as "haphazard," and declared that co-operative marketing, with farmers more closely controlling the initial processes in a spirit of self-interest, will produce economies at both ends, with more money to the farmer for his products and lower food prices to the consumer.

He added that the terms "producer" and "consumer" no longer apply closely in distinguishing country from city people. "The farmer is so greatly a consumer," he said, "that the nation can not prosper when he can not buy freely. And as to producers, why is a man who plows any more an ultimate producer than the factory worker who molds that plow?

"City and farm, under modern conditions, are utterly interdependent. At present, cities lead in business effectiveness. Farmers are trying to catch up. It will mean better business for the whole nation if they succeed. And business reasons apart, a democracy that draws for new blood on an impoverished countryside can not endure."

HANDY'S BAND AND SINGER ENTERTAIN LOVERS OF "JAZZ"

W. C. Handy's negro band of ten pieces, with Sarah Martin, phonograph singer, scored a hit with the small audience that attended the Sixth-st theater last night.

They played popular music entirely. "Love Brings a Little Gift of Roses" and "Yes, We Have no Bananas" brot encores and several other numbers were freely applauded.

The Martin woman sang any of the songs which she had made on phonograph records that were called for by the audience. About six numbers were called out, all of them "blues."

U. S. GOVERNMENT ASKED TO AID IN MAURER SEARCH

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5. —Believing that Fred Maurer, local young man, is still alive on the Siberian coast, members of his family here have asked the United States government and the American Red Cross to aid in the work of searching for the part of the Crawford expedition which landed on Wrangel island two years ago, that started for Siberia over the ice last December.

John Maurer, a brother, is awaiting answers to telegrams sent to Nome, Alaska, Sunday, in which he asked if any effort was being made to locate the trio on the Siberian coast before the weather breaks. One telegram was sent to Lomen Bros., Steffannson's representatives, and to Harold Noice, leader of the relief expedition which first reported that Maurer had perished.

The Japanese earthquake has disrupted cable service in the Pacific ocean and for this reason an answer to Maurer's telegrams may be delayed for several days.

CITE BEST YIELDING COUNTIES OF STATE

College Men Dig Averages From Census on Acre-Crop of Leading Farm Products

Lucas County grows more wheat and oats to the acre than any other county in Ohio. When it comes to raising corn, Clark County has the highest average yield. As to hay, Wayne County leads, with an average acre yield more than a quarter above the state average.

All of these facts are obtainable from the 1920 census provided one has the patience to cipher them out and rank them by counties. Rural economists at the Ohio State University have done so as a step in their analysi sof Ohio agriculture by counties, made to help county agricultural agents in planning work.

The average wheat yield of Ohio during the past census period was 16.6 bushels to the acre. The leading wheat yields by counties were, Lucas, 22.5 bushels; Ottawa and Wood, 21.8; Fulton, 21.1; Lorain 20.4; Sandusky, 20.3; Putnam, 20.2.

As to oats, the state average was 35.6 bushels per acre. The leading counties: Lucas, 42 bushels; Henry, 41.2, Cuyahoga, Seneca, and Sandusky, 40.6; Medina, 40.5; Van Wert and Shelby, 40.3.

Corn: state average, 37.1 bushels to the acre. Leading counties: Clark, 43.3; Greene, 43.1; Preble, 42.6, Henry, 42.4; Fayette, 41.8; Butler, 41.7; Ross, 41.5; Pickaway, 41.1, Lucas, 41.3.

Hay state average, 1.07 tons to the acre. Leading counties: Wayne, 1.33 tons, and then Mahoning, Lorain, Geauga, Huron, Ashtabula, Van Wert, and Portage counties, in the order named, all with yields of 1 1-4 tons or more to the acre.

Gleason McBane, of Cleveland has returned to resume his duties after visiting over Labor Day with relatives and friends in the city.

Clarence Bageant was guest of honor at a pleasantly arranged surprise party, Sunday at his home in East Main-st, the occasion marking his twenty-fourth birthday.

Garden flowers and an artistic color combination of pink and white made the Bageant home unusually attractive for the event.

A two course luncheon was served to: Clarence Bageant, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trego and son Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Huffman and son Dale, of Frazeysburg, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hughes and Miss Leota Hayes, of Trinway, Miss Virginia Garver and Kenneth Bageant, Dresden, Mrs. Letitia Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Easterday, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Easterday and children Mabel, Arabella and Thurston, and Mrs. Claudia Bageant.

Thirty-five relatives were in attendance, Monday, at the Ogle family reunion, held in the fairgrounds. Officers to serve during the year were elected as follows: president Hugh Ogle, Roscoe; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Grace Wright, Trinway; chairman of the arrangement committee, Milton Wright, chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Bert Ogle; chairman of the refreshment committee, Mrs Mollie Graham.

Up to, and including this year only the S. D. Ogle family has been included in the yearly gatherings, but it was decided to include the entire Ogle connection at the next reunion in 1924, which will be held the first Saturday in September of that year.

Mr and Mrs. George Lloyd, of West Lafayette, had as their guests Sunday, the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Sarah Balder, Mrs. Esther Babler, Mr and Mrs. Elva McPherson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Balder, Mrs. Laura Balder, Mrs. Grace Balder and the Messrs. William, Harry and Ernest Balder, Ira and Lester Harmon, and Dewey Ridenbach.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Sawyel, 435 Chestnut-st, has issued invitations for a dancing party, Friday evening September 7, at Coshocton Lake Park.

The function has been planned for the pleasure of Mrs. Harold B. Elliott, a recent bride and Miss Mary Meek, whose marriage takes place, Tuesday, September 11.

Another Lost Cause

MUCH complaint has been registered for several years past to the effect that the wet and dry issue commands more attention in the field of politics than is justified by its relative importance. There is some merit in this contention, altho when the argument is advanced by the average hard-boiled politician it should be taken with a grain of salt. Prohibition assuredly has occupied the center of the stage to a much greater extent than members of the political fraternity have desired, and this is what they mean when they deplore its undue prominence.

Political issues are not always made by politicians. Prohibition, like slavery, is anathema to the professional politician. But neither would down until settled and, to quote Garfield's famous dictum, no issue is ever settled until it is settled right. Just here it would seem, is the cue for our politically inclined citizens. If prohibition is forcing other important issues to the background, WHY NOT SETTLE PROHIBITION? The issue of saloons or no saloons is dead. The verdict of the nation is irrevocably cast on that issue. Despite all the outcry of the friends of the open saloon of ten years ago, not five states in the Union could be carried on the direct issue of a return of the old time saloon.

The issue of saloon or no saloon has shifted to one of law or no law. And despite the clamor of the old brewery interests and their wet political allies, that is the one issue which is crystallizing for the national campaign of next year. Slowly, but surely, the people themselves are forcing that. Politicians may squeal and squirm, but they cannot longer defer the day of accounting. Were they wise, which they never are, they would welcome the coming showdown. If they were really sincere in their concern about the undue prominence of prohibition, they would align themselves on one side or the other in 1924 and accept the verdict which will then undoubtedly be rendered as final. Then and not until then will the validity and ultimate enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment be an accomplished fact in the estimation of courts, politicians and people generally.

How political lines are being inexorably fixed for next year despite the protests of so-called political leaders is indicated in the following comprehensive editorial from The Philadelphia North American. In the opinion of that paper all the outcry of the wets the last six months about what they would do when it came to the election of the next President and Congress has ended as similar outcries have these ten years past. The wet interests are the champion noise makers, but when the showdown comes even the noise will subside because there has been no substance back of it. The following able analysis of The North American of the attitude of the two parties on the wet and dry issue in 1921 is well worth reading:

"The manner in which the political leaders have backed and filled and shifted and turned on the liquor question during the last year shows how rapidly they adapt themselves to the inevitable. A year ago many eastern politicians felt quite assured that both national platforms in 1924 would contain a wet plank — recommending legislation of "light wines and beer," perhaps. There was none so skeptical as to doubt that if the parties hesitated to go so far, they would at least remain silent. Today most of them, both Republicans and Democrats, are prepared to see drastic enforcement planks adopted, and as a matter of course expect to fall in line.

Election last fall of anti-prohibition governors in New York and New Jersey, and reduction of the Republican majority in congress almost to the vanishing point, led the wet newspaper press to hail the results as a sweeping victory for the liquor cases. Eastern politicians likewise drew this conclusion, and assumed that both national parties next year would appeal to the widely advertised wet sentiment of the country by urging modification of the Volstead act. This idea was so firmly implanted in their minds that they clung to it even after analysis showed that the new congress would be quite as dry as its predecessor, and in spite of the fact that law enforcement had won in the only two direct referendums held — industrial Ohio and wine-growing California.

In the closing hours of its session late in May, the New York legislature unexpectedly passed a bill repealing the state enforcement law, and this action made the liquor issue the foremost political topic for several weeks. Governor Smith, a pronounced opponent of prohibition, delayed his decision on the bill for nearly a month, Tammany Hall and the wet forces meanwhile bringing all available pressure upon him to sign the measure, and the advocates of enforcement urging a veto. After holding a public hearing he finally signed the repealer.

The governor's admirers had let it be known that he was an aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination, and that his approval of this bill would be a shrewd move for the advancement of his ambition. Moreover, the leaders of both parties in this section of the country regard him as an exceptionally astute politician, with an almost uncanny faculty for perceiving in advance the drift of public sentiment, and they were profoundly impressed when he took his stand with the bootleggers and nullifiers. The pro-liquor press likewise celebrated his prophetic insight, and declared that his action would make him a formidable figure in the Democratic presidential contest.

Soon after signing the repealer, Governor Smith went out to Indiana, to be the guest of Tom Taggart, the ablest Democratic politician in the middle west, and to receive personal assurances of support from other party leaders. By this time the wet press was picturing Smith as the certain Democratic nominee, and quite as convincingly as calculating the extent of the party's victory with him as standard bearer. During this period the politicians on both sides sedulously cultivated their bootlegging connections.

But suddenly the Smith-for-president vision faded away. It vanished over night when Taggart issued the blunt statement: "The next campaign cannot be won on a wet issue. Other things are more important than the wet and dry question, and in my opinion no party could win by raising the wet standard." That utterance from such a source, was utterly fatal to the pretensions of Governor Smith and his friends, for as [illegible] there was no questioning the competence of Taggart, a former United States senator and national chairman, to [illegible]. The Smith boom suffered immediate and complete [illegible], and the eastern politicians who had based their plans upon it [illegible] them.

With this [illegible] them the Republican leaders at Washington [illegible] that the party stood staunchly for law enforcement [illegible] statements made by the president were to be [illegible] that the party would adopt next year a [illegible] enforcement of the law. Passage of the New [illegible] approval by Governor Smith [illegible] aroused [illegible] throughout the whole country. At the same time [illegible] upon the R[illegible] who for many [illegible] been [illegible] party [illegible] middle west [illegible] party [illegible] of such Republican officials [illegible].

[illegible] the middle west [illegible] most [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the Republican [illegible] take an [illegible] enforcement [illegible] a career [illegible].

[illegible] the president [illegible] western trip [illegible] advocate of strict [illegible] it is known that [illegible] the rule [illegible] and there was a section of public indulgence [illegible] officials in the administration. The president [illegible] and it is said that Mr. Harding caused its [illegible] of impairing some close friendships.

With the elevation of Calvin Coolidge to the presidency the whole situation [illegible]. He is known as an inflexible champion of law observance [illegible] man who would be likely to tolerate the defiance that has prevailed. Besides he has no social or political affiliations [illegible] to raise doubts of his sincerity. The [illegible] of law enforcement been strengthened but the issue has taken on increased value for the Republican party.

If the eastern politicians have had any lingering doubt as to what the Republican attitude on this question will be, it ought to be dispelled by the presence of Mr. Coolidge in the White House. The wet issue is dead. Not only have the Republicans cast it aside, but the Democrats are trying to cut loose from it. Following the fading away of Governor Smith as a presidential possibility, Tammany and the liquor interests undertook to boom him as a candidate for second place on the ticket. But it has recently been announced that he will not be put forward at all by the New York delegation.

Politicians back and fill, shift and turn, but finally, when public sentiment becomes unmistakable, they fall into line. The American politician is not a statesman, he lacks vision and is devoid of deep convictions. But one quality he does have, and that is adaptability; he quickly and cheerfully adjusts himself to changed conditions when that is necessary for the good of his party. There can be no doubt of the sentiment of the country, when we see its politicians accepting philosophically the demonstrated fact that to espouse in this day the cause of booze would be a course of political suicide."

New York Day-by-Day
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. It has always puzzled me to know why criminal rifraff, in a great city, gathers about street car barns and gas houses. This is almost invariably true. A police lieutenant tells me it is because the structures are as a rule in rough neighborhoods and they become a natural open forum.

There is a gas house in Hell's Kitchen that is particularly forbidding to those who wear white collars and carry canes. When such a person enters this block there is a mysterious shuffling of feet, odd whistling signals and an atmosphere of tenseness.

If there are no cops about there is usually an attack and the victim is beaten up and relieved of his watch and wallet. Hell's Kitchen hates the cop as Satan hates holy water. The police travel in pairs and even at that the Kitchen "gangs a cop" about once a week.

Ten policemen have been murdered there in the past six years by mere boys. The toughs enter upon careers of hard living early. The gang leader is rarely more than 21 and his satellites are always younger. Work to them is anathema.

The toughest gang in New York is the Hoo Hoos of Hell's Kitchen. It has been wiped out several times but always comes back. Those who are sent "up the river" to Sing Sing keep in constant touch with those left behind. Black jacking is their specialty.

I shall never forget my amazement at seeing the blood thirsty young gunmen who were electrocuted for killing Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, in front of the Metropole Hotel. I had pictured them as muscular young men with undershot jaws, rabbit eyes and leering expressions.

Instead I saw a group of good looking youths one might see at any Sunday school picnic. Drug addiction had not yet left its mark. Their complexions were fair and they had a boyish bashfulness and surprising naivette.

Yet here were killers who invaded New York's busiest street corner and dealt out murder with less trepidation than I would killing a sparrow with an air rifle.

It is a little theatrical costumer's shop on Seventh Avenue along the fringe of the Rialto. It is gloomy and musty with age. The window has not been dressed to my knowledge for five years. When darkness comes there is a daub of light from an old lamp and in this dull haze sits a very old silver haired man. He twiddles his fingers and slowly rocks. I have been past the shop scores of times and he is always there—just one of New York's great army of lonely.

Shirt makers are worried about fall designs. Will the white collar come back or will the shirt with collar to match of figured design be the gnat's lavaliere? The avenue haberdasheries are not making any window displays. There is, if you are on your toes with eagerness to know, some talk of the pleated bosom again.

The shoddiest street cars in the world are to be found in New York. One line that traverses Central Park West has cars that look as too they could not make another trip. All have flat wheels and are so scarred and dingy, they would be a disgrace to a city dump.

A coffee spigot in a down town Automat that gives forth a cup of Java for a slotted nickel got out of order the other day and 22 patrons secured a cup of coffee free.

There is much talk of the rudeness of New Yorkers in breaking business appointments and making visitors wait in outer offices. I have only encountered this once and that was in the office of a moving picture producer who had asked me to call. I waited an hour while he was in a "conference" and at the end of that time stalked into his office. He was reclining on a divan taking a nap. He had a rude awakening. I'm brave that way, especially when the other fellow is asleep.

Mexican Bean Beetle Now Found In Ohio

The Mexican bean beetle, one of the worst insect pests known to entomologists, has already reached several points in southern Ohio in its northern advance from Alabama.

The pest has been found at Portsmouth and Otway, Scioto County; Peebles, Adams County, and Waverly, Pike County according to reports from J. E. Graf, federal entomologist in charge of truck-crop insect investigations, to H. A. Gossard, entomologist of the Ohio Experiment Station.

The Mexican bean beetle is one of the few harmful species belonging to the lady bird family. It is a little larger than the useful common lady bug, is yellowish-red and is distinguished by four transverse rows of black spots.

Unlike the common lady bug which feeds on larvae and eggs of other insects, the Mexican bean beetle feeds on bean and cowpea leaves, skeletonizing them. The larvae are spiny creatures and also feed on the underside of leaves.

This pest was first discovered at Birmingham, Ala., where it was probably carried from the Rocky Mountain Plateau. In its new surroundings it has taken on new life and is spreading northward at the rate of several hundred miles a year.

There is no efficient remedy known. However, destroying all weeds, etc., that may serve as hibernating places may aid in checking its depredations, say Station entomologists.

WALT MASON
HIGH PRICED SKILL

The surgeon charged five hundred bones for delving in my anguished frame. "Great Scott," I cried, in wrathful tones, "why do you play such sinful games? It only took a little while to amputate that priceless wen, to ply your bucksaw and your file, and sew my system up again." "The time it took me gets no ice," the sawbones said, "that's my skill. I did the work desired; my price is based upon my hard won skill. For years I studied day and night when other youths were out at play, that I might wield the scalpel right, and slice my patrons' wens away." "I never viewed the matter thus," I said, with something of remorse. "I'll pay you with no further fuss—here is my check, which you'll indorse." "This check is for a hundred bucks," exclaimed the surgeon, in a trice. "Now by Sts. Calomel and Nux I said five hundred is my price." "The signature upon that check," said I, "has caused me sleepless nights. I practiced it for years, by heck, before I got it dead to rights. When others trotted with the fox or bunny-hugged the night away, I toiled with pencils, pens and chalks, to make my signature O. K. I do not charge you for the ink, altho it's of a costly blue, but for my wizard's skill, I think, I ought to have a rake-off, too."

Appetite Gone?

A tempting, delicious looking meal—all the choicest morsels from a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things failing to put a keen edge on your appetite—failing to arouse, in any degree, a hardy relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why?

Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravishly sought to recharge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetising things nauseates them.

Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chaloupka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—the keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S. S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for yourself. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

Situate in the Township of Keene, County of Coshocton and State of Ohio, to-wit: Situated in the second quarter of the sixth Township and sixth Range U. S. M. Lands and consisting of three tracts or parcels of land described as follows, viz.
FIRST TRACT: Being the whole of lot number twenty, as described in the deed of William H. Johnson and wife to Liverton Beall, deceased, dated April 14th, 1851 recorded in Volume 25 at page 455, of the record of deeds of said County containing one hundred acres, more or less; excepting therefrom all that part of said lot lying south of the public road leading eastwardly to the town of Keene, Ohio, said excepted part having been conveyed to one James A. Dodgeon by deed recorded in volume 76, at page 112 in said deed record, said excepted part is estimated to contain Five (5) acres.
SECOND TRACT: Being a part of lot number fifteen, beginning for a boundary at the North West corner of said lot then south along the west line of said lot 772.2 feet to Mill Creek; thence north easterly with the meanderings of said Creek to the north boundary line of said lot, thence west along the line of said lot 448.8 feet to the place of beginning, estimated to contain three and three fourths (3¾) acres, being the same tract conveyed to the said Liverton Beall by Zapher Fawell by deed dated April 19th, 1852 recorded in Vol. 25 at page 488 of said deed record.
THIRD TRACT: Being the south half of lot number twenty one estimated to contain fifty acres, said three tracts being contiguous and forming one single body of land estimated to contain one hundred and forty eight and three fourths acres.
ALSO: Being situated in the township of Keene, County of Coshocton, and State of Ohio, and consisting of two tracts of land described as follows:
FIRST TRACT: Being a part of lot number 15 in section 2 of Township 6, and range 6, and beginning for a boundary of the same at the north east corner of the Presbyterian church and burying ground and thence west along the north boundary line of said tract to the northwest corner of said tract; thence north one degree east five and thirty three hundredths chains, thence south eighty nine degrees 75 chains to the graded road, thence along said road southwardly to the place of beginning and containing four acres of land be the same more or less.
SECOND TRACT: Being parts of lots number 14 and 15 in the second quarter Township six of range 6 and beginning for a boundary of the same at a point on the north line of said lot 15 [illegible] feet east of the northwest corner of said lot 15, thence south [illegible] degrees east 132 feet, thence south 47½ degrees east 232.5 feet, thence north 31 degrees east 165 feet; thence north 24 degrees east 425.7 feet to the center of the public road, and thence along the center of said public road in a southwesterly direction to the place of beginning and containing 2.72 acres 1.25 acres of which is in lot 14 and 0.47 acres of which is in lot 15.
Appraised at first tract $10,000.00, second tract $2,700.00.
Said premises to be sold as the property of the parties to the above action, on an order of sale in Partition from the Common Pleas Court of Coshocton County, Ohio, and directed to me as Sheriff of said County.
Terms of sale cash.
Given under my hand this 5th day of September, 1923.
ERNEST DARR.
Sheriff of Coshocton County, Ohio.

Americans In Peril At Corfu Bombardment

Corfu and Premier Mussolini

News dispatches from Corfu, Island of Corfu, which has just been bombarded by the Italian fleet, under orders from Premier Mussolini, report that Americans were imperilled by the artillery fire. The ex-Kaiser Wilhelm long maintained this wonderful marble palace at Corfu, and it has lately been turned over to the American Near East Relief Commission by the Greeks, to care for the Greek and Armenian refugees from Turkey. Shells are supposed to have struck near it.

UNIVERSITY MAN

spoke of the present poor financial position occupied by the farmer. The farmer is pressed from both sides, and his opportunities for making money are few, he said. His products bring low prices, while the commodities he buys command high prices.

He discussed the theories that have been advanced for the assistance of the farmer. Plans to have the government fix the price of farm products and to buy surplus products, or to have the farmer store his goods for higher prices are not feasible, he declared. They would bring no real relief, in his opinion.

The only relief for the farmer will come thru the natural law of supply and demand, Ramsower declares. For instance, he declares there is too much wheat produced. The farmer will have to branch out in other lines, and regulate the size of his production by the demand for the product.

He will have to become more efficient. It is necessary for him to produce more to the acre. He will have to eliminate waste in buying and to develop a better selling system before he can make money.

Farmers' exchanges and shipping associations are proving successful, he said, where they have reached the point that they can perform their operations at a cost less than that of private establishments.

In closing, Ramsower impressed upon his audience his belief that the farmers' salvation lies in higher quality products, careful buying and co-operative selling.

Lone' orchestra furnished instrumental music for the meeting and David Dawson entertained with a vocal solo.

As each Rotarian and his guest came down the walk toward the clubhouse they saw beneath one of the great trees on the lawn, "Nick" the massive sorrel horse that draws to Coshocton's homes their daily wants of ice, and, on the tree, a placard stating that to the nearest guessers of the horse's weight a prize would be awarded, at the banquet table later in the evening.

Following a well rendered vocal solo by David Dawson the report of the guessing contest was given. Charles Bantum, of near Warsaw, was awarded the prize his guess being 1977 pounds, only 3 pounds above the horse's weight.

JAP EMBASSY PUTS QUAKE LOSS BELOW FIRST ESTIMATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. — The [illegible] which swept the island empire of Japan [illegible] a minimum property loss of [illegible] it was estimated at the Japanese embassy here today, after a study of press [illegible] which gave but meager details of the catastrophe. It was explained the damage might mount into billions more if later reports show the destruction to be as complete outside Tokyo as it was in the capitol city.

With at least ten million living in the path swept by earthquakes, tidal waves, typhoons and fire, embassy officials feared the toll of human lives would reach the highest estimates of 500,000 dead as carried in news despatches. They point out that the congested methods of living in Japanese cities tended to cause greater casualties than in American cities should they be similarly stricken.

Embassy officials also estimate that Japan will need 500 million dollars worth of supplies from the United States in rehabilitation of the destroyed cities. Of these total, at least 250 million dollars worth of lumber will be needed, it was said. The remainder will consist of clothing, blankets, factory machinery and foodstuffs.

DEAD IN TOYKO ARE ESTIMATED AT 150,000 WED.

TOKYO, via Peking, Sept. 5. — The terrific earthquake and subsequent fire took a toll of 150,000 lives here, it was estimated today by the metropolitan police after a preliminary survey. The homeless were listed at 250,000. The same source estimated casualties in Yokohama at 100,000. The only newspaper not totally destroyed in the capital city was the Nichi Nichi. The machinery was damaged to such an extent, however, as to make publication impossible.

Eight hundred bedridden patients at the University Hospital were cremated without a chance to save themselves.

since the earthquake, conflagration and tidal wave laid waste to an area said to be 60 miles square.

The property damage is incalculable.

Twenty four foreigners, including several Americans are known to have lost their lives in the calamity at Yokohama. The number of dead in the capital city of Tokyo which is almost completely destroyed is unknown.

A Tokyo reporter of the Asahi, a newspaper, escaped in the height of the disturbances at Yokohama Sunday night and after three days and nights travel by foot reached Osaka today. He reported that all towns and villages between the two cities had been demolished with an appalling loss of life.

PREPARING TO PHOTOGRAPH SUN'S ECLIPSE

Above — Dr. O. J. Lee and Coelotsate, Below—Theosophical Headquarters, Right Equitorial Mounting.

Scientists from all parts of the world are flocking to southern California to study the total eclipse of the sun that will occur there on September 10, the first time the phenomenon has been visible in the United States in 54 years. Most of the photographs will be taken at the Theosophical headquarters at Point Loma, near San Diego, where the eclipse will be visible for 3 minutes and 43 seconds. All the delicate instruments from the Mount Wilson Observatory have been set up there. Dr. Oliver J. Lee has set up his coelotsate for reflecting light of the sun to the lens of his camera at Catalina island. The equatorial mounting (of two telescopes) has also been set up there to photograph the eclipse.

CLOW WORKER IS BURNED BY IRON

A. J. Baxter, of the Bachert Apartments, was suffering Wednesday from a badly burned left eye, received early Saturday morning when he was struck by a red hot piece of cast iron at the Clow plant where he is employed.

Both his eyelid and eyeball were badly burned by the hot piece of metal. Whether or not it will permanently impair his sight can not yet be determined.

Dr. Edmund Cone is treating the injury.

FORD'S BALANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—The cash balance of the Ford Motor Co. jumped from $144,985,669 to $230,-811,518 for the year ending June 30, 1923, according to the annual statement published today.

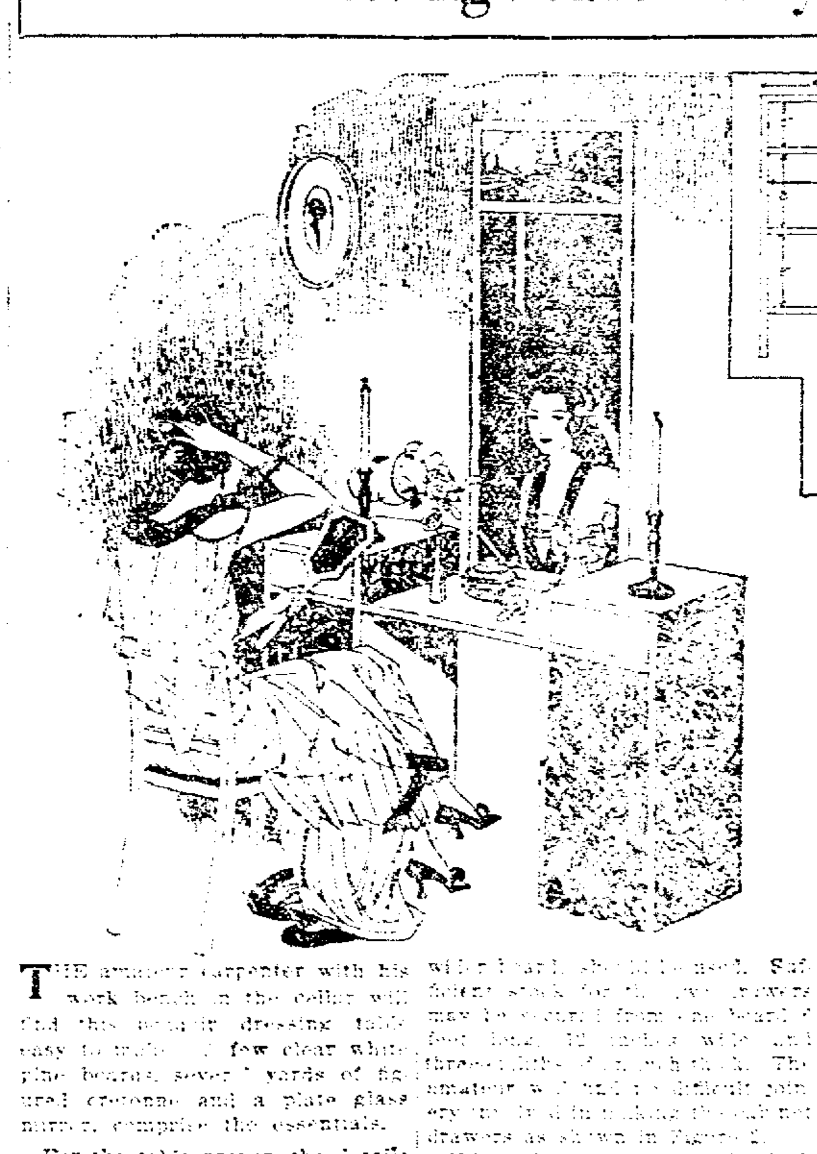

The total assets is 573,932,934. The surplus increased to $414,129,-158.

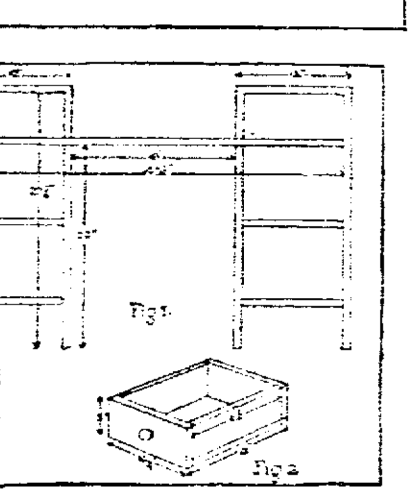

BANK IS ROBBED

DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 5 — The Farmers National Bank at Greenville was held up and robbed of about $7,000 in cash this afternoon by two armed but masked men. Three customers in the bank were covered as were bank attaches. The bandits escaped, going north.

Boudoir Dressing Table Easily Made at Home

THE amateur carpenter with his work bench in the cellar will find this boudoir dressing table easy to make. A few clear white pine boards, several yards of figured cretonne and a plate glass mirror, comprise the essentials.

For the table proper, the details of which are shown in Figure 1, there will be required about 20 linear feet of clear white pine, 12 inches wide and seven-eighths of an inch thick. To cut to advantage, it should be procured in two boards, one, 12 feet long, and the other, 8. If the dimensions in Figure 1 are followed, the table resulting will measure 12 inches wide. Should greater depth be desired, wider boards should be used. Sufficient stock for the two drawers may be secured from one board 4 feet long, 12 inches wide and three-eighths of an inch thick. The amateur will find it difficult joinery involved in making the cabinet drawers as shown in Figure 2.

When the woodwork is finished, a piece of figured cretonne should be drawn smoothly up one end of the table, across the drawer cabinet, down to the surface of the table, over the other drawer cabinet and down the other end. Small cloth-headed tacks may be used for making it fast. Material enough for turning under at the edges should be allowed. The gathered curtains that cover the shelves on each side should be hemmed on the four edges. Because of their moderate width, they may be tacked to the edge of the table top without rendering the shelves difficult to reach.

Plate Glass Tops

The most desirable finish for the top of the table will be provided by three small sizes of plate glass. The two covering the drawer cabinets will be 12 inches square, the single sheet on the table surface, 12 by 18 inches. In addition to providing an ideal surface, it will insulate the cretonne from settling dust and the stain of cosmetics at the principal points of wear. In case a glass cover is not used, a pleasing padded effect may be produced by placing several layers of cheesecloth beneath the cretonne on the top. A plate glass mirror to hang above the table is, of course, essential. Its dimensions should be 16 by 48 inches.

Before the cretonne is tacked in place, the table, cabinet drawers and mirror frame should be given at least two coats of paint. The hue selected would be determined by the color of the cretonne and the color scheme of the room. Tall tapering candles provide the finishing touch.

NEWCOMERSTOWN HAPPENINGS OF LIVE INTEREST

CORNERSTONE OF HIGH SCHOOL TO BE LAID SEPT. 12

The cornerstone of the new high school building will be laid with impressive ceremonies to be conducted by the Grand Lodge of Ohio, F. & A. M. at 2 o'clock the afternoon of September 12.

Grand Master Harry S. Johnson of Cincinnati, head of the Ohio Masons, will have charge of the ceremonies, and U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess will deliver an address. Fess has promised his presence in a letter to Prof. W. B. Hayes, superintendent of schools.

Masonic lodges in Coshocton, Uhrichsville and Cambridge have been invited, and all Masons, as well as the public, are asked to be present. Music will be furnished by the Hyperion band and a parade will be held.

SCHOOLS BEGIN WITH 759 PUPILS

The Newcomerstown schools opened Tuesday with an enrollment of 759 pupils. Thus enrollment compares favorably with the enrollment of last year on the opening day.

A few new teachers are in charge this term. Many of last year's teachers are retained for this term. Everything worked out well in the school rooms the opening day.

The pupils were assigned their lessons in the morning and they immediately busied themselves in studying their lessons for the day.

Following is the enrollment by rooms in both the east and west school buildings: East—first, 44; second, 33; third, 44; fourth, 29; fifth, 30; seventh, 29. west—first, 36; second, 32; third, 47; fourth, 45; fifth, 37; sixth, 36; seventh, 34; eighth, 61.

The pupils living outside the town were brot to school in A. G. Bretzins' new Chevrolet bus, made especially to haul them.

KLAN CONCLAVE TO BE HELD TONIGHT

From 2,000 to 3,000 Tuscarawas-co Ku Klux Klan members are expected tonight at a big conclave and initiation to be held in Daughterty's field near Newcomerstown.

Rumor here has it that the meeting will be a county affair. A cross is expected to be burned and ceremonies performed.
